

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

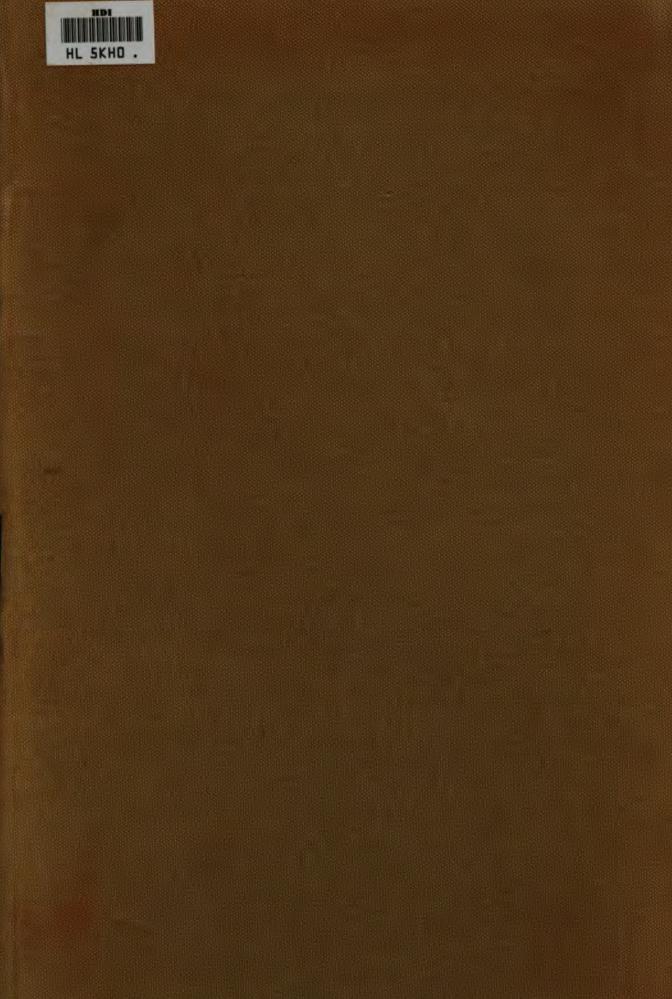

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THEREAS by an Act passed in the third year of the reign of his late Majesty, intituled "An Act for abolishing the punishment of death 2 & 3 Will. 4. " in certain cases, and substituting a lesser punishment in lieu thereof," it is c. 62. s. 2. among other things enacted, that neither the governor nor lieutenant governor of any island, colony, or settlement, or any other person, shall give any pardon or ticket of leave to any person sentenced to transportation, or who shall receive a pardon on condition of transportation, or any order or permission to suspend or remit the labour of any such person, except in cases of illness, until such person, if transported for seven years shall have served four, if transported for fourteen years shall have served six, or if transported for life shall have served eight years of labour; and that no such person shall be capable of acquiring or holding any property, or of bringing any action for the recovery of any property, until after such person shall have duly obtained a pardon from the governor or lieutenant governor of the colony or settlement in which he or she shall have been confined; provided that nothing therein contained shall in any manner affect his Majesty's royal prerogative of mercy And whereas it is expedient that the law with respect to pardons and tickets of leave should be amended: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Repeal of so Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and much of the commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that as respects so much of the above-recited Act as is herein-before recited shall be repealed. lawful for every felon under sentence or order of transportation who shall hold any such ticket of leave, notwithstanding his or her conviction of felony, to acquire and hold personal property, and to maintain any action or suit for the recovery of any personal property so acquired by him or her, and for any damage or injury sustained by him or her, in the courts of the colony or place where such felon shall lawfully reside; and if the defendant in any such action or suit shall plead or allege in his or her defence the plaintiff's or complainant's conviction of felony, and the plaintiff or complainant shall allege and prove that he or she hath received and doth still continue to hold unrevoked such a ticket of leave as aforesaid, a verdict shall pass and judgment shall be given for the plaintiff or complainant: Provided always, that whenever such ticket of leave shall be revoked all property so acquired by any such felon shall vest absolutely in her

An Act to amend the Laws in force relating to Grand Jury Presentments in Counties of Cities and Towns in Ireland. [12th July 1843.]

HEREAS by an Act passed in the session of Parliament holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of municipal corporations in Ireland," it was 3 & 4 Vict. enacted, that the boundaries of the several boroughs named in schedule (A.) c. 108. s. 20. to that Act annexed should, for the purposes of that Act, be taken to be according to the description of such boundaries set forth in schedule (C.) to that Act annexed; and by another Act passed in the same session of Parliament, intituled "An Act to annex certain parts of certain counties of 3 & 4 Vict. " cities to adjoining counties, to make further provision for compensation of " officers in boroughs, to limit the borough rate, and to continue for a limited " time an Act to restrain the alienation of corporate property, in Ireland," it was enacted, that, for the purposes of the said first-recited Act, and of that Act, all places locally situate or included within the boundaries of any of the boroughs of Cork, Dublin, Kilkenny, Limerick, Waterford, and Drogheda, as defined under the said first-recited Act, should, from and after the time when the said Act secondly above mentioned should come into operation, be deemed and taken to be part or parts of the county of the city or county of the town of such borough respectively, and of no other county; and every portion, place, or precinct of every county of a city or county of a town not under the said Acts included within any such borough should, until provision in that behalf should be otherwise made under and by virtue of the said last-mentioned Act, be one barony in itself, and should, for all purposes of grand jury presentments and of criminal jurisdiction, and also of civil jurisdiction of the superior courts of common law in Dublin, be part of the county at large which was adjacent to it, or with which it had the largest common boundary: And whereas under the said recited Acts certain parts or portions of the old liberties of some of such counties of cities and counties of towns, and certain parts of parishes and other denominations thereof, are included within the boundaries of the counties of such cities or towns as defined under the provisions of the said recited Acts, and other parts or portions of the liberties of the same cities or towns, and of such parishes and other denominations thereof, not being within such boundaries, have, for the purposes of grand jury presentments, among others, become part of the adjoining counties: And whereas by an Act passed in the last session of Parliament, intituled "An Act " to enable grand juries at the ensuing summer and spring assizes to make " certain presentments in counties of cities and towns in Ireland, and to " remove doubts as to the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in places recently " annexed to counties at large in Ireland," it was enacted, that at every assizes to be holden for any such county of a city or county of a town in Ireland, as in the said Act mentioned, it should be lawful to and for the grand jury of such county of a city or town to present all and every such sum and sums as might be lawfully presented pursuant to any Act in force in Ireland relating to grand jury presentments previous to the said Acts coming into operation within each such county of a city or town respectively; provided that all and every such sum or sums when so presented, and all sums which might be or have been legally added thereto by the treasurer of such county of a city or county of a town if the said recited Acts had not passed, and all sums duly presented at the then last spring or summer assizes, and not theretofore levied, should be assessed, applotted, levied, and raised off such county of a city or town, as the same is defined under the said recited Acts, without reference to previously existing exemptions or compositions for any particular parish, district, or other denomination: And whereas an Act was passed in the session of Parliament holden in the sixth and seventh years of the reign of his late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act to consolidate " and amend the laws relating to the presentment of public money by grand " juries in Ireland"; and by reason of the provisions contained in the said last-mentioned Act, and in the said several Acts herein-before recited, and also by reason of the conflict therewith of the provisions of certain local Acts in force within some of the counties of cities and counties of towns to which the provisions herein-before mentioned of the said several Acts are applicable, it has been found for the most part impracticable to proceed in the presentment, assessment, applotment, and levy of grand jury cess in counties of cities and counties of towns in Ireland: For remedy whereof, be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that from and after the passing of this Act all sums to be presented or which shall be re-presented by the

An Act to amend the Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales. [24th August 1843.]

t & 6 Will. 4. c. 76.

7 Will. 4, & 1 Vict. c. 78. s. 23.

TYPEREAS by an Act passed in the fifth and sixth years of the reign of his late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act to " provide for the regulation of municipal corporations in England and " Wales," provisions were made for the election of corporate officers in certain boroughs, and for determining the times and manner of such election; but the provisions in the said Act have not in all cases been duly complied with: An whereas by an Act passed in the first year of the reign of her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to amend an Act for the regulation of municipal " corporations in England and Wales," it was among other things declared, that after the passing of that Act every application to the Court of Queen's Bench for the purpose of calling upon any person to show by what warrant he claims to exercise the office of mayor, alderman, councillor, or burgess in any borough shall be made before the end of twelve calendar months after the election, or the time when the person against whom such application shall be directed shall have become disqualified, and not at any subsequent time: And whereas doubts have arisen whether, notwithstanding the said last-mentioned enactment, applications in the nature of quo warranto may not still be successfully made against any person holding the office of mayor, on the ground that such mayor was not duly qualified to be so elected mayor by reason of some defect or informality in his previous election to the office of alderman or councillor, although more than twelve calendar months may have elapsed since such election to the office so alleged to have been informal or defective, and likewise against other corporate officers upon grounds of the like nature: And whereas also in certain boroughs the town councils elected under the said recited Act omitted to appoint as therein directed who of the aldermen first elected under that Act should go out of office at the expiration of the term therein mentioned: And whereas also in some boroughs at the said first election of aldermen after the passing of the said first-recited Act less than the full number required by the said Act were elected to such office by reason of equality of votes as to some of the persons nominated, and at the second election of aldermen under the provisions of the said first-recited Act other aldermen were elected to supply and make up such deficiency, but by inadvertence, and under a mistake of law, a greater number were elected to such office than ought to have been so elected, and great inconvenience, vexation, and expence have been incurred and sustained by reason of the premises, insomuch that the functions of the corporate bodies in such boroughs have been and are in effect suspended; and it is expedient to provide a remedy for such mischief: And whereas the said first-recited Act requires further amendments: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent No election of Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and a mayor in any borough subject temporal, and commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the to recited Acts authority of the same, that no election of any mayor of any of the boroughs question for named in schedules (A.) and (B.) of the said first-recited Act, or in any defect in preborough to which a charter of incorporation may have been or may be here- of such person after granted under the provisions of that Act and of the secondly recited Act, as alderman or either of them, , shall be liable to be questioned unless such by reason of a defect in the title of such person to the office of alderman or previous eleccouncillor to which he may have been previously elected, unless application tioned within shall have been made to the Court of Queen's Bench, calling upon such person its taking place. to show cause by what warrant he claims to exercise such office of alderman or councillor, within twelve calendar months after such his election to the aid office of alderman or councillor; and that from and after the passing All elections of this Act every election f this Act every election to the office of mayor, alderman, officers not ouncillor, or any other corporate officer, in any of the boroughs aforesaid, talled in question shell not be hich shall not be . . . called in question by such application to the months to be ourt of Queen's Bench within twelve calendar months from such election, deemed valid. all be deemed to have been to all intents and purposes a good and valid ction.

And whereas it is expedient to render certain proceedings by way of warranto and mandamus, so far as they affect corporate offices in boroughs. summary and expeditious: Be it therefore enacted, that from and after Provision for passing of this Act, in all cases of intended application to the Court of expediting certain pron's Bench, either for a mandamus to proceed to an election of any corceedings by e officer or officers in any of the aforesaid boroughs, or for an information way of mandamus and nature of a quo warranto against any person claiming to be a corporate quo warranto. of and in any of the said boroughs, it shall be lawful for the party ing to make such application to give notice in writing thereof to the to be affected thereby at any time not less than ten days before the the said notice specified for making such application, in which notice e set forth the name and description of the party by whom such appliwill be made, together with a statement of the grounds thereof, and at me time to deliver with such notice a copy of the affidavits whereby the ation will be supported; and thereupon it shall be lawful for the said entioned party to show cause in the first instance against such applicaand if no sufficient cause be shown it shall be lawful for the said Court en's Bench, on proof of the due service of such notice and statement, the delivery of a copy of such affidavits as may be used for the purf supporting such application, to make the rule for such mandamus or ation absolute, if the said court shall so think fit, in the first instance, so, if they shall so think fit, to direct that any writ of mandamus y ordered to be issued shall be peremptory in the first instance; and OL. also that the venue in any information thereby ordered to be filed shall be laid in the county of Middlesex, or in the city of London, and that the issue or issues of fact thereon, if any, shall be tried at the sittings at nisi prius of the said court at Westminster, or in London, by a jury of the same county or city respectively.

VI. And whereas the office of treasurer of and for the aforesaid boroughs

Office of treasurer to be held during the pleasure of the council of the borough. is an office of great trust, and an annual appointment to such office is inconvenient and unnecessary: Be it therefore enacted, that so much of the said herein-before first-recited Act as provides that the council in every borough shall in every year appoint a fit person to be treasurer of such borough shall be and the same is hereby repealed, and that IRep., Stat. Law Rev. Act, 1874 (No. 2.I the council of every borough shall, on the ninth day of November next after the passing of this Act, or on the ninth day of November next after such borough shall be incorporated, appoint a fit person, not being a member of the council, to be the treasurer of such borough, who shall thenceforth hold his office during the pleasure of the council for the time being; and on the happening of any vacancy thereafter, by death, resignation, amotion, or otherwise, the council shall proceed to the appointment of a successor, either at any of the general quarterly meetings of the council, or at a special meeting to be convened for that purpose, so that in no case such appointment be delayed beyond twenty-one days from the happening of the vacancy.

Elections on vacancies.

VII. AND whereas inconvenience has arisen and may hereafter arise by reason that in the said first-recited Act no provision is made for the holding of the borough sessions at the time appointed by public notice for that purpose, in case of the sudden illness or unexpected and unavoidable absence of the recorder on or immediately before the day on which the sessions for any borough shall have been appointed to be held, or during the holding of such sessions; and it is desirable to provide against such inconvenience:

In case of sickness or absence the recorder may appoint a deputy recorder. VIII. And be it enacted, that in case of sickness or unavoidable absence the recorder of any borough shall be and he is hereby empowered, under his hand and seal, to appoint a deputy recorder, being a barrister of five years standing, to act for him at the quarter sessions then next ensuing or then being held, and not longer or otherwise: Provided nevertheless, that such sessions shall not be deemed to have been illegally held, nor the acts of any deputy recorder invalidated, by reason of the cause of the absence of the recorder not being deemed to be unavoidable within the meaning of this Act.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

An Act for facilitating the Collection of County Rates, and for relieving High Constables from Attendance at Quarter Sessions in certain Cases, and from certain other duties. [1] [19th July 1844.]

TATHEREAS the constitution of boards of guardians for parishes and unions of parishes for the administration of the laws for the relief of the poor in England, together with the appointment of treasurers holding funds contributed by such parishes, affords great facility for the collection of county rates, hundred rates, police rates, and other like rates, authorized to be levied in counties or parts of counties; and it is expedient to relieve high constables from the duties of collecting and paying to the county treasurer the said rates, and from attending at the quarter sessions of the peace of their several counties in certain cases, and from the performance of certain other duties at present by law imposed on them: Be it enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the as often as the justices of the peace within the respective limits of their commissions in England have made a county rate or a police rate, or any other rate which may by law be raised in like manner as county rates, or any two or more such rates, such justices assembled at their general or quarter sessions, or at any adjournment thereof, shall order precepts in the form shown in the schedule annexed to this Act, or as near thereto as may be, to be issued to the guardians of every union of parishes, of which union any parish is situate within such limits, stating the sum or sums assessed and charged for each such rate on each parish in the union, the whole of which parish is situate within such limits, and to the guardians of every single parish situate within such limits, stating the sum or sums assessed and charged on such parish for each such rate, and requiring the guardians of such union or parish respectively, within such time as may be limited in such precepts, to cause the aggregate of the said several sums so stated to be paid by them, out of the monies held by them on behalf of each such parish, to the treasurer of the county or place for which such justices act, and may cause such precepts to be sent by post, or otherwise, to such guardians; and such precepts shall have force in every such union so far as concerns such parishes as are within the limits of the commission of the said justices, notwithstanding that the place of meeting of such guardians may not

Justices of the peace shall send precepts in form in schedule directly to guardians of unions or single parishes for the payment of police rates, &c. Parishes not in arrear with contributions, whose contributions are not paid over, but are applied for the use of those parishes which are in arrear, so that they have to pay the additional 1s. in every 10s., shall be re imbursed by those parishes which are in arrear.

IV. And be it enacted, that in every case where any parish comprised in an union has, on or before the day on which any precept as aforesaid should be obeyed, contributed money sufficient to enable the guardians of the union to pay any sum or sums required by such precept in respect of such parish, as well as to provide for the immediate relief of the poor of such parish, and to satisfy all other obligations of the said guardians in respect of such parish in force on that day, and where, through the default of any other parish or parishes in the same union in contributing money to such guardians, or through the neglect of such guardians to demand sufficient contributions from any other parish or parishes in the same union, the said guardians have applied the money of such first-mentioned parish to the use of such other parish or parishes, and are thereby rendered unable to pay any money so required by such precept on behalf of such first-mentioned parish, and such parish is by reason thereof compelled to pay the additional sum of one shilling in every ten as herein-before provided, in every such case the guardians of the union shall reimburse such first-mentioned parish such additional sum, and all costs incurred by reason of the premises, out of the monies of such other parish or parishes which may next thereafter come into the hands of such guardians; and in case more than one parish be in default as aforesaid the said guardians shall charge such additional sum and costs to every such parish, in proportion to the amount of the deficiency of the contribution of each parish respectively on the day on which the said precept should have been obeyed.

Justices may issue warrants for payment to the overseers of parishes, &c. not comprised in unions, or only partly within the jurisdiction of the justices, without the intervention of the high constable, aud enforce payment from them.

V. And be it enacted, that in the case of every parish not comprised within any union, and in which the laws for the relief of the poor are not administered by a board of guardians, and in the case of every parish comprised in a union the guardians of which are not empowered to relieve the poor, and in the case of any parish comprised within a union, or in which the laws for the relief of the poor are administered by a board of guardians, of which parish a part only is situated within the limits of the commission of any justices, for which part no separate rate is levied for the relief of the poor, and in the case of every place not maintaining its own poor, but liable to the payment of county, police, or other rates as aforesaid, the justices assembled as aforesaid may, , issue their warrant to the overseers, petty constables, peace officers, or other persons empowered by law to rate and levy county, police, or other rates in such parish, part of a parish, or place, to pay to the county treasurer, or to transmit to him in such manner as the said justices may from time to time direct, within a time limited in such warrant. the county rate, police rate, or other rate or rates as aforesaid charged on them. without the agency or intervention of any high constable, and such justices may cause such warrant to be sent by post or otherwise; and in case the said overseers, petty constable, peace officer, or other person refuse or neglect to pay any such rate within the time limited in such warrant the same remedy may be had against them as now by law exists against overseers neglecting to pay on the warrant of the high constable.

Sending of precepts, &c. by post, and delivery thereof.

VI. And be it enacted, that whenever precepts or warrants as provided by this Act are to be sent by post the clerk of the peace shall send every such precept or warrant by post as a registered letter, according to the regulations of the postmaster general in force for the time being in that behalf; and every precept or warrant delivered or tendered as a registered letter at the address

Trustees of ancient endowed schools may apply for parliamentary aid for rebuilding, &c. and consent to such school being open to inspection.

II. And whereas there are many endowments for the purpose of education of the poor in Great Britain of ancient date, the schools whereon have become dilapidated, and, the funds of such endowment being insufficient for the restoration thereof, application is made by the trustees, or by the persons acting in the discharge of the trusts thereof, for aid out of the said parliamentary grant, but the same hath been declined, because such applicants could not impose upon their lawful successors in the said trust the conditions which the said committee would have advised her Majesty to require to secure the due inspection of such schools, and it is expedient to enable them to do so: Be it therefore enacted, that where the major part of the trustees of any endowed school for the education of the poor duly appointed under the terms of the deed of endowment, or, when such deed cannot be found or cannot be acted upon, of the persons who shall be in the possession of the endowment, and shall be acting in the execution of the trusts or the reputed trusts thereof, shall, and in cases where there shall be a visitor of such school with the consent of such visitor in writing, apply for aid out of such parliamentary grant to enable them to rebuild, repair, or enlarge the school belonging to such endowment, or the residence of the master or mistress thereof, or to furnish such school, and shall in writing assent to the said school being open to inspection on behalf of her Majesty and her successors, if the said committee shall deem fit to advise that any such grant shall be made, it shall immediately after the making of such grant, and thenceforth from time to time, be lawful for any inspector of schools appointed by her Majesty and her successors, in conformity with the terms contained in the writing testifying such consent as aforesaid, to enter the said school at all reasonable hours in the day for the purpose of inspecting and examining the state and condition of the school and the scholars thereat, and of making such report thereon as he shall deem fit.

III. And whereas by an Act passed in the fifth year of the reign of her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to afford further facilities for the con-" veyance and endowment of sites for schools," it is enacted, that any person, being seised in fee simple, fee tail, or for life, of and in any manor, or lands of freehold, copyhold, or customary tenure, may grant, convey, or enfranchise. and subject to the provisions therein mentioned, any quantity not exceeding one acre of land as a site for a school or otherwise, as therein likewise specified; and it is desirable to prevent any such grant, being of so limited an interest, from being defeated by the death of the grantor: Be it enacted, that where any deed shall have been or shall be executed under the powers and for the purposes contained in the said Act, without any valuable consideration, the same shall be and continue valid, if otherwise lawful, although the donor or grantor shall die within twelve calendar months from the execution thereof.

IV. And whereas it was provided by the said Act that grants of land or buildings, or any interest therein, for the purposes of the education of poor persons, might be made to the minister of any parish, being a corporation, and the churchwardens or chapelwardens and overseers of the poor and their successors, and it is sometimes found inexpedient or impracticable to introduce the overseers as parties to the legal estate: Be it therefore enacted, that such granted under the said Act to grants may be made to the minister and churchwardens of any parish, such

CHAPTER XLVI.

An Act to continue, until the Fifth Day of April One thousand eight hundred and forty-six, Compositions for Assessed Taxes; and to amend certain Laws relating to Duties under the Management of the Commissioners of Stamps and Taxes.

[29th July 1844.]

III. And whereas difficulties have arisen in carrying into execution the several Acts relating to the duties of assessed taxes, and the duties on profits arising from property, professions, trades, and offices, in divers privileged and other places, by reason of doubts as to whether such places are extra-parochial, or included within or forming part of any parish, tithing, or place for which separate assessments of the said duties have been usually heretofore made: For remedy whereof be it enacted, that it shall be lawful for the commissioners of stamps and taxes, or any two or more of them, and they are hereby authorized and empowered, from time to time, by any order in writing under their hands, to order and direct that any privileged or other place, whether extra-parochial or not, but not being itself an entire parish, shall, for the purposes of assessing, charging, collecting, and levying the said duties respectively, and for all other the purposes of the several Acts aforesaid, be deemed to be within or part of such district or division, and within or part of such parish, tithing, ward, or place respectively, as shall appear to the said commissioners to be most convenient and proper for the purposes aforesaid, and thereupon such privileged or other place shall be deemed to be within or part of such district or division, and within or part of such parish, tithing, ward, or place, according to such order, for all the purposes aforesaid; and the said respective duties shall be assessed, charged, raised, collected, and levied within such privileged or other place, and upon the occupiers or inhabitants thereof, by or under the authority of the commissioners appointed or authorized to put in execution the said respective Acts in the district or division, and by the assessors, collectors, or other officers appointed for the parish, tithing, ward, or place, within or part of which such privileged or other place shall be by any such order as aforesaid declared or directed to be deemed to be, any law. statute, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided always, that it determined by the said respective commissioners within their district at such time and place as they shall appoint for that purpose, of which due notice shall be given to the party assessed or charged as aforesaid.

V. AND whereas by the said Acts relating to the said respective duties the commissioners for putting the same in execution respectively are required or directed to hold certain meetings, and to appoint certain officers, and also to do and perform divers other acts, matters, and things, in the execution of the powers and provisions of the said Acts, before or upon certain days or times appointed and prescribed by the said Acts for such purposes respectively: And whereas, in cases where the said commissioners have omitted to put in execution the powers and provisions of the said Acts within or at the times so appointed and prescribed as aforesaid, doubts have arisen as to the legality of their execution of such powers and provisions at any subsequent period, and it is expedient to remove such doubts: Be it therefore enacted, that where in any case the said respective commissioners have neglected or omitted, or shall hereafter neglect or omit, to hold any meeting, or to appoint any officer, or to do or perform any other act, matter, or thing, in the execution of the powers and provisions of the said Acts respectively, within or at the time directed, appointed, or prescribed by the said Acts in that behalf, the holding of such meeting, and the appointment of such officer, and the performance of any such other act, matter, or thing as aforesaid at any other time or times shall, notwithstanding any such neglect or omission, be and be deemed to have been respectively as good, valid, and effectual to all intents and purposes as if the same respectively had been held, made, done, or performed within or at the time and according to the manner and circumstances directed, appointed, or prescribed as aforesaid, any thing in the said Acts contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

Acts done by commissioners in execution of the powers of the Acts as to assessed taxes, &c. declared valid, although not done within the times prescribed for that purpose.

VI. And whereas by the said Acts relating to the said duties respectively the commissioners acting in the execution thereof are required to direct their precepts to such inhabitants of each parish, ward, or place, and such number of them, as they shall think most convenient, to be presenters and assessors for such parish, ward, or place, requiring them to appear before the said commissioners at such place and at such time as they shall appoint, in order that such of the said inhabitants as the said commissioners shall think proper may be appointed assessors of the said several duties: And whereas it frequently happens that the persons to whom such precepts are directed wilfully disobey the same, whereby the execution of the said Acts is greatly impeded: Be it therefore enacted, that if any person to whom any such precept as aforesaid shall be directed shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear before the said respective commissioners according to the tenor and effect thereof, or, having appeared, shall refuse to submit to be appointed an assessor of the said duties or of either of them respectively, in the manner and form by the statute in such case directed and provided, every person so offending in any such case as aforesaid shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of ten pounds, to be recovered and applied in like manner as any penalty incurred under the said Acts or any of them may be recovered and applied.

l'enalty on persons refusing to appear before the commissioners to be appointed assessors, or refusing to submit to be appointed, 10l.

VII. And whereas by an Act passed in the forty-ninth year of the reign of King George the Third, intituled "An Act for continuing and making per" petual several duties of one shilling and sixpence, repealed by an Act of the secondly and thirdly herein-before recited Acts, shall be continued and shall be and remain in force from the passing of this Act for five years, and until the end of the

II. AND whereas several of the penalties imposed by the said first herein-before recited Act for the offences therein described are directed to be not less in amount than certain sums in the said Act respectively named, and it is expedient that power should be given to the convicting justices still further to lessen the same: Be it therefore enacted, that it shall be lawful for any justices or justice or chief magistrate by whom any person shall be convicted of any offence under the said first herein-before recited Act to award, in respect of any offence punishable under the said Act, any penalty whatsoever, not being greater than the maximum penalty assigned for such offence by the said Act; and the said Act shall hereafter take effect and be continued as if no such minimum limits as are herein-before referred to had been respectively assigned to the penalties thereby imposed.

XIII. And whereas by an Act passed in the twelfth year of the reign of King George the Second, intituled "An Act for the more easy assessing, " levying, and collecting county rates," it was enacted, that there should be but one rate made and assessed by the justices of the peace of the said county of Middlesex and the said city and liberties of Westminster for the several purposes enumerated in that Act: And whereas by an Act passed in the seventh year of the reign of King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act for " building a new bridewell or house of correction for the said city and liberty " of Westminster," a house of correction, commonly called the New Bridewell, was built out of monies charged and assessed upon the county rates, which said bridewell is much larger than is needed for the said city and liberty; but the house of correction for the county of Middlesex is so small that the prisoners therein cannot be properly classified: And whereas inconveniences arise from the present management of the county rate being vested partly in the justices for the said county and partly in the justices for the said city and liberty, and it would be a public advantage if the management of the county rate were solely in the justices of the said county, and if the said New Bridewell were made a house of correction for the whole county, and placed under the control and management of the justices of the said county: Be it enacted, that after the passing of this Act the justices for the said city and liberty shall cease to exercise any control over the county rate, and the justices of the said county shall have the sole control and management thereof; and all orders for the payment of any sums of money out of the county rate, in respect of any expenditure within the said city and liberty, shall be made by the justices for the said county upon the county treasurer, in like manner as all other orders are made by them upon him; and the said treasurer shall obey the same, and shall from time to time include the same in his accounts, and the same shall be subject to all the statutes and provisions for the regulation of the rate for the said county, and shall form part of the general expenditure for the said county.

XIV. And be it enacted, that so much of an Act passed in the forty-seventh year of the reign of King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend "three Acts, of the eighteenth, thirty-ninth, and forty-fourth years of his "present Majesty, for erecting a court house for the holding of sessions of the peace in the city of Westminster," as enacts that the court house for the said city of Westminster shall be under the sole direction and management of the justices of the peace for the time being of the city and liberty of Westminster, shall be repealed; and that after the passing of this Act the control and management of the said court house, and all the powers and provisions respecting the same, in the said Acts vested in the justices for the city and liberty, shall be vested in the justices for the said county of Middlesex, as fully as if they had been named in the said Acts.

V. AND be it enacted, that after the passing of this Act all the powers Property in the New property in respect of the said New Bridewell by the before-mentioned Bridewell at of the seventh year of the reign of King George the Fourth vested in Westminster to be vested justices for the said city and liberty of Westminster, and also All niture, goods, and chattels belonging to the said New Bridewell, shall asferred to and vested in the justices for the said county.

of officers, assistants, and clerks were formed for the offices of the said several courts, and for the taxation of bills of costs in common law business, and regulations were made for providing the necessary number of fitting and competent persons to do the business of writing, copying, and engrossing in every such office respectively, the salaries and expences of which establishments and business were by the said Acts charged upon the consolidated fund: And whereas by an Act passed in the first and second years of the reign of his said Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to grant for the term of " five years additional stamp duties on certain proceedings in the courts of " law, and to repeal certain other stamp duties, in Ireland," which term has been since extended from time to time by subsequent Acts, certain stamp duties therein specified, to be denoted "Law Fund," were granted to meet the charge upon the consolidated fund created by the salaries and expences so made payable thereout by the said herein-before recited Acts for and in respect of the offices of the said courts of law, and also to meet certain other charges for salaries, allowances, and compensations to the judges and officers of the said courts in lieu of certain fees which were then abolished: And whereas the income produced by the said Law Fund stamp duties has never been sufficient to meet the said charges for which it was intended to form a provision, and by making a new arrangement as to the business to be transacted in the said offices a very considerable saving in the expences chargeable in respect thereof upon the consolidated fund may be effected: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that from and after the eleventh day of October one thousand eight hundred and forty-four the several offices created by the said first-recited Act of the first and second years of the reign of King George the Fourth, and all appointments made under or by virtue of the said Act, or by virtue of the said recited Act of the fifth year of the reign of King George the Fourth, shall be and the same are hereby abolished, save and except the offices of taxing officers and their clerk, and of crier, tipstaff, and serjeant-at-arms in the several courts, which shall remain as heretofore.
